AWARDS:

T. Duncan Ellison Safe Water Award sponsored by the Canadian Water and Wastewater Association

This award recognizes outstanding contributions to the promotion of safe drinking water, wastewater management, source water protection, and beach water monitoring. The recipient will receive $500 which is generously donated by the Canadian Water and Wastewater Association.

In 2022 the CWWA Board in collaboration with the EHFC Board renamed the CWWA Safe Award to the T. Duncan Ellison Safe Water Award. This award is sponsored by the CWWA founded in 1986 to address Canadian water and wastewater issues at the national level. The CWWA is a non-profit national body representing the common interests of Canada's public sector municipal water and wastewater services and their private sector suppliers and partners. CWWA is recognized by the federal government and national bodies as the national voice of this public service sector.

T. Duncan Ellison was the Executive Director of the CWWA for 16 years and was made an Honorary Member of the CWWA, and an EHFC Board Trustee for over 20 years holding the positions of Board Chair and Secretary. In 2008 Duncan was awarded Honorary Membership in the Canadian Institute of Public Health Inspects for his volunteer service as member of the EHFC, CIPH's Charitable Division. Duncan was also inducted into the American Water and Wastewater Association's Hall of Fame for his long-term contributions to the drinking water services sector. Duncan was also designated the first Emeritus Member of the Council of the Council of Public Health Consultants of NSF International for his 20 years of volunteer with the Council.

Clifford E. Van Alstyne Communication Award

This award recognizes the commitment, involvement, or innovation in the field of environmental public health, with a focus on communication in all its forms--within the national environmental public health community. The recipient will receive $1,000 which is generously donated by the family of Cliff Van Alstyne to reflect Cliff's national contribution to public health and his long-standing work to initiate and nationalize the professional journal, the Environmental Health Review. Cliff received his Certificate in Sanitary Inspection (Canada) #804 in 1952 at the age of 25 and became a life-long member of CIPHI.

Cliff worked in several rural Manitoba towns and was a member of the Manitoba Branch Executive and held the positions of Councillor, Secretary, and Vice President. Cliff believed that the Institute needed to do a better job of communicating with its members, so he promoted a branch newsletter which was supported by the Branch and Cliff became the first Editor of the Manitoba Branch newsletter. In 1967 Cliff moved his family to BC to take a position with the BC Ministry of Health and transferred his CIPHI membership to the BC Branch and was elected as a CIPHI National Executive Councillor in 1968. Cliff then joined the Medical Services Branch of Health Canada and became a strong supporter of Federal EHOs. In 1977, when Len Hiebert retired as the Editor of the CIPHI Environmental Health Review, Cliff became joint editor of the EHR for two years. He then along with two colleagues took on the role of Editors and Publishers of the BC Branch Page from the Winter 1979 to the Spring 1982 issues.

Dr. R. Neil Lowry Safe Recreational Water Award sponsored by the Lowry Group

This award recognizes outstanding contributions to the advancement of safer and healthier recreational water (pool and spa management) in Canada to protect the public's health in their community. The recipient will receive $2,500 which is generously donated by the Lowry Group.

The Dr. R. Neil Lowry Safe Recreational Water Award is donated by Lowry & Associates. Dr. Lowry founded the Lowry School of Pool & Spa Chemistry in 1980 which has become the most comprehensive chemistry course in the industry. Dr. Lowry was a fierce defender of the integrity of the industry when it came to water treatment and loved to teach water chemistry and proper sanitation to PHIs/EHOs and pool managers.
